

Sound and action

The same action. The same sound. Compare when they meet.

Does the sound arrive before, with, or after contact?
Point to the event that supports your answer.

Open the sound-and-action lab

One question, three tools

Watch closely. Name the choice. Support the reading.

Blocking: positions, paths, distance and facing

Gesturality: an expressive bodily action

Reaction shot: a view emphasizing a response

Open the student guide

Hamilton · the official trailer

Watch once. Inspect a frame. Watch again with a question.

At 0:15, what arrangement can you actually see?
What does a closer view give you? What disappears?

Open the official Hamilton trailer

Critical Role · action and response

Watch 7:28–8:38. Inspect hands at 7:38; compare speaker at 8:28 and listener at 8:33.

Describe the action before interpreting it.
What further moments would establish a recurring gesture?

Open Critical Role at 7:28

Blocking · bodies in space

Same line. Same wide view. Change positions, paths and facing.

Who moves, and who stays?

What changes in their distance or orientation?

Gesturality · an expressive action

Keep the feet fixed. Compare an open hand, folded arms and repeated cuff touches.

Name the visible action.
What context would change your interpretation?

Open the upgraded Gesturality study

Reaction shot · whose response?

One response, frozen at 3.0 seconds. Change only the crop.

What becomes easier to inspect?
What spatial evidence disappears?

Open Reaction shot

A camera choice for a game

Choose what the player needs to perceive, then test it with another pair.

Player-controlled, authored, or hybrid camera?
Name one gain, one cost, and one test.

Open the frozen response

One World, Two Media · evidence rehearsal

Show both versions. Speak over both. Let visible evidence support the comparison.

Survives / Reinvented / Gone
Due September 24, 5 PM Pacific

Open the assignment and rubric

Ten-minute break

Return at 11:40

Take the full ten minutes.

Mood boards · the shared brief

A game involving collaboration

20–40 images; visual language, tone, palette and world
File October 1, 5 PM Pacific; five-minute presentations October 5

Open the mood-board studio

Team Project Time · mood boards

30 uninterrupted minutes on your team's actual board

Make a coherent section. Explain why its references belong.
Keep one unresolved visual choice for feedback.

Open the 30-minute work block

Team-to-team feedback

I Like · I Wish · What If

Name a specific strength, a gap, and a possibility.
Point to the visual evidence behind your reading.

Open the feedback prompts

Revise and divide the next work

Make one useful revision. Agree who does what next.

Save the board where the whole team can access it.
Record one decision and one remaining question.

Open the next-step check

Exit and next dates

One supported observation. One question worth testing.

Video essay: September 24, 5 PM Pacific

Mood board: October 1, 5 PM Pacific; presentations October 5

Open the exit reflection