

From watching to making.

What should a player feel?
What will they do?

Original conceptual artwork · Higgsfield.

IN	40 Minecraft	35 Last of Us	BREAK	75 Your board	OUT
10:00	START	MINUTES TOGETHER			12:50 FINISH

Three questions. Evidence first.

01

What survived?

Name what carries across. Point to evidence.

02

What was reinvented?

What changes when the medium changes?

03

What is gone?

What disappears—and is its absence felt?

01

Recall / observe

02

Interpret

03

Hear intent

04

Make a decision

Minecraft · 10:05–10:45. Recall a choice that made a build yours. Watch Steve's film prologue once. Write your reading before hearing 61 seconds of the filmmakers. Does the film preserve a feeling of Minecraft? Use a specific moment.

The Last of Us · 10:45–11:20. Watch S1E1's cold open once. Name a detail that shapes your expectation. Then hear 2:14 of its creators explaining their decision. Game comparisons need specific recall; no game footage is assigned.

Our player feels ___ because they ___.

The reference helps us decide ___.

Minecraft includes mild fantasy peril; The Last of Us discusses pandemics. You may look away or step out. No student subscription needed.

The board is the work.

11:30–11:35

01 / Choose

Name one highest-priority change.

11:35–12:30

02 / Build

55 protected minutes in your real shared board. Professor circulates.

12:30–12:40

03 / Check

Partner team or your own team. Use the four rubric criteria.

12:40–12:45

04 / Save

Revise. Save the actual file. Record tonight’s one action.

A reference earns its place. It helps decide movement, light, legibility, or what a player does. Add what is missing. Replace what you cannot justify. A strong board may need testing, not more images.

Four rubric lenses · 5 points each

Cohesion

One aesthetic direction, clear to a stranger.

Curation

Every image earns its place. 20–40 in the finished board.

Palette

Test the colors on a real screen.

Presentation

Readable, navigable, and ready to explain.

YOUR BOARD · 20–40 IMAGES

Thu Oct 1 · 5 PM Pacific

Save and submit the actual file to the course Drive.

TEAM PRESENTATIONS

Mon Oct 5 · 5 minutes

Everyone speaks. No new homework; the board is the work.

12:45 exit: one term and where you saw it; one uncertainty.

Notes save in your browser; download before leaving. Save the actual board in your team’s shared file. Course version 2c85f18df075c130