

YOUR CHOICES. YOUR NEXT TEAM.

Use this if online collection is unavailable. Keep it private; hand it directly to Gordon.

Your name / current presentation team

First-choice teammate (not yourself)

Second-choice teammate (not yourself or your first choice)

Rank all four roles once

Write 1, 2, 3 and 4, using each number exactly once. 1 = most preferred; 4 = least preferred.

☐

Producer

Coordinates the plan, schedule and communication. Makes sure every voice is heard, decisions are recorded, and the team knows its next step.

☐

Design Lead

Guides the visual style, composition, color and consistency. Helps turn references into a coherent visual language the whole team can build.

☐

Technical Lead

Coordinates the build, troubleshooting, file organization, exports and Tech Checks. Helps the team choose a workable process and keeps backups ready.

☐

Story & Editorial Lead

Shapes the narrative, pacing, sound and final sequence. Helps the audience understand the intended feeling and the passage of time.

All four remain shared creative partners. Gordon reviews complete responses before revealing teams at 12:20.

NOTICE SOMETHING. MAKE IT USEFUL.

Review a different team on each sheet. Do not review your own team. Give all three sheets privately to Gordon.

Your name / your current team / team you are reviewing

I Like

Name a visible detail and explain what it does.

I Wish

Describe what would help you understand the work.

What If

Offer one small thing the team could test.

Supportive comments (optional)

Additional critique (optional)

Feedback addresses choices in the work. It is support, not a new grading criterion.

ONE IDEA. A SHARED NEXT STEP.

After the 12:20 reveal: the passage of time. Three new teams of four.

Our four members / starting responsibilities

One contribution each / one skill each wants to learn

Our test: if we change ____, an audience should notice ____

Our contact route / Discord channel / first meeting

Our first task / who will start / help we need

Prototype: present October 14; file due October 15, 5 PM PT.

Final: 2 to 3 minutes, due December 3, 5 PM PT.

Wednesday, October 7: storyboards and animatics.
